ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned From Our Exchanges.

The annual meeting of the ninth Masonic district will be held at Chelsea, Thursday, December 8. The lodges in this district comprise those at Randolph, Bradford, Chelsea, South Stratford, Wells River, West Fairlee, Corinth, Brookfield, and Williamstown.

At a hearing held by the state board of railroad commissioners in Proctorville Saturday to inquire into the circumstances connected with the death of A. Johnson who was killed there by the cars November 1, the testimony showed that Mr. Johnson drove directly in front of the train although bystanders warned him of his danger.

C. Frederick Childs, son of Walter H. Childs, of Brattleboro, who after his graduation from Yale traveled around the world, and for some time has been in the employ of Mason, Lewis & Co., bankers, of Boston, will remove this week, with his family, to Chicago where he is to be employed by the bond house of Fiske & Robinson, of New York, his territory including the leading cities of the West.

Mrs. Emma Brigham, who was brutally murdered in a wood lot near her home in Leicester, Mass., last Friday, was well known in Randolph, having been a resident there about twelve years ago. She was a cousin of Mrs. Almon Morse of that place. She was formerly Miss Susan Richards and the daughter of Mrs. Richards. The ashes of Mrs. Brigham will be sent to Bethel for burial. Her body was cremated immediately after the funeral.

O. W. Davis and wife were given an informal reception in honor of their golden wedding anniversary in the Methodist church at Morrisville Wednesday evening from 7 to 10. Mr. Davis and his estimable wife were united in marriage in Wolcott 50 years ago and removed from there to Waterbury Center, where they resided for about forty years. Mr. Davis enlisted from Waterbury and served nine months in the Civil War, in Company C, 15th regiment, receiving an honorable discharge. Four children have been born to them, one having been taken away in infancy. The three living children are Mrs. F. E. Batchelder of Waterbury Center, Charles F. Davis of Hardwick and Meritt J. Davis of Leominster, Mass. The two former, with their families are at the home of their parents on Summer street today and J. O. Freeman, a brother of Mrs. Davis, is also a guest there. The worthy couple moved to this town three years ago last winter and during their residence here have made a large number of warm friends, who will extend to them their warmest congratulations on this happy occasion.

A RAJAH HIS BENEFACTOR.

American Doctor Asked to Enter Native Potentate's Service in India.

Dr. C. A. Fowler of Kittanning, Pa., recently returned from St. Louis mystified still, but covered with presents. He has also promised to remove to India within a year to become private physician to Rajah Tibe Sahib, a dignitary of whose existence Dr. Fowler was in complete ignorance until some days ago when he was confronted with the rajah's courier in St. Louis, says the New York Times.

Eleven years ago, while in Chicago attending the World's fair, Dr. Fowler was instrumental in saving the foot of a young foreigner who had been trampled on by a camel. The lad, who appeared to be a Hindoo, pressed on the physician a medal and took in exchange the physician's card.

Some weeks ago Dr. Fowler received a copy of a western paper in which appeared an advertisement asking him to call at the Indian embassy at St. Louis, bringing with him a medal which had been given him for services at Chicago in 1893 by a young native of India. The doctor hunted up his medal and hurried to St. Louis.

There he received presents from the Rajah Tibe Sahib, who it seems was the lad whose foot he had saved at Chicago. The Hindoo dignitary hoped that the American doctor would accept his poor presents and would come to India to live as his private physician. The presents are worth about $10,000. Dr. Fowler will go to India April 1.

Plague of Rats in Berlin.

The extraordinary number of rats which have shown themselves lately in the Berlin suburb of Grunewald has proved such a nuisance to the inhabitants that the municipal authorities are offering 10 pfennigs for every rat's tail delivered, says the London Standard. In this connection it is interesting to note that the vigorous action of the Danish Society for the Extermination of Rats in Copenhagen is considered by Prussian medical authorities of such importance for the prevention of the spread of infectious diseases that the establishment of an international league for the extermination of rats is under consideration.

Dictations Over Wires.

A Cleveland man has started a business which promises to be a great success. He has hired an office, a large number of expert stenographers and a number of telephones. Business men call up by telephone, dictate their letters over the wire to a stenographer, and the letters are later sent back by messenger boys to be signed.

Weed Seeds.

Some weeds produce a surprising number of seeds. A single plant of purslane has been known to produce 333,300, the thistle 35,300 and the plantain 42,300 seeds in a single season.

A Long Distance Battle.

During the civil war a Parisian journal contained the astonishing news that "a decisive engagement is momentarily expected between the northern fleet drawn up on the Mississippi river and the southern fleet drawn up on the Amazon."

THE REAL TEST

Of Herpicide is in Giving it a Thorough Trial.

There is only one test by which to judge of the efficiency of any article and that is by its ability to do that which it is intended to do. Many hair wigors may look nice and smell nice, but the point is—do they eradicate dandruff and stop falling hair?

No, they do not, but Herpicide does, because it goes to the root of the evil and kills the germ that attacks the papilla from whence the hair gets its life.

Letters from prominent people everywhere are daily proving that Newbro's Herpicide stands the "test of use."

It is a delightful dressing, clear, pure and free from oil or grease.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

AN INEFFICIENT FLEET.

Admiral Tchuchin's Report on Russia's Black Sea Ships.

The latest proof of demoralization and utter inefficiency of the Russian navy is contained in a sensational report drawn up by Admiral Tchuchin, commanding the Black sea fleet, with reference to the recent naval maneuvers held under his supervision. The report has caused a painful sensation in official circles at St. Petersburg, says the correspondent of the London Express.

The admiral's verdict pronounced on his own fleet is crushing. He found that Russian naval officers were entirely without love for their profession or interest in their work. Incompetence prevailed throughout the fleet. When maneuvering, ships were unable to maintain their positions. The most appalling muddles occurred.

Sometimes, when the ships of the fleet were supposed to be in close formation, several would be found to be missing altogether, and cruisers had to be detached to search for them. The signals from the flagship were either not understood or purposely disobeyed.

Many officers, says the admiral, were found to be devoid of knowledge of the naval regulations. Admiral Tchuchin mentions several cases in point. The extraordinary lack of discipline was illustrated one night during the maneuvers by the remarkable behavior of torpedo boat No. 273. The fleet was steaming in company when the torpedo boat suddenly turned and disappeared. The wrathful admiral dispatched a cruiser to look for the missing torpedo boat, and after a long search she was found in the harbor of Yalta. The lieutenant in command and his brother officers as well declared simply that they preferred spending the night in port rather than on the open sea.

Two other torpedo boats left the fleet without the admiral's permission and were also found at Yalta. They were tired of executing evolutions at night, and the commanders expressed surprise and indignation when they learned in a somewhat forcible manner that the admiral was distinctly annoyed.

On the fifth day of the maneuvers Admiral Tchuchin signaled to the fleet to perform certain evolutions at a speed not to exceed ten knots. Most of the battleships were unable to keep up even this speed and could not be handled with sufficient dexterity to participate in fleet drill, which proved to be an utter fiasco.

The admiral concludes his report by saying that "if the Black sea fleet ever has the misfortune to face the enemy it will be completely wiped out."
